

The Benevolent Cabernet Merlot Petit Verdot

David King has been a winemaker in Australia since 2009, after a stint as a cellar hand in the Rhône Valley once he'd completed his degree in oenology at Adelaide University.

This wonderful Aussie blend delivers fruit aplenty with a nose of lovely, ripe, dark berries leading to a palate where the Cabernet gives richness, the Merlot fleshy, plummy, mouth-coating breadth and a splash of Petit Verdot firms everything up beautifully.

The Benevolent Carmenere

Hailing from the diverse and idyllic Valle Central region of Chile, one of the most important wine producing areas of South America and famous for its enviable terroir. Winemaker Jose Miguel Ovalle is a homegrown talent who also spent time in Spain, gaining further experience. Over the last decade he has remained on Chilean soil due to his passion for the land and his love of the wines it creates. A wild and compelling dark, rich fruit character Carménère fills out the palate. A beautifully formed, mouth-filling classic.

The Benevolent Pinot Grigio

Winemaker Oscar Salas Steinlen says he's always been compelled to bring out the best in the grapes he works with.

The vines that yield this Chilean classic are watered by Andean snowmelt and as a result it's as crisp as a bag of chilled apples. It's brimming with fresh orchard fruit and lemon aromas, made more complex on the palate by a hint of baked pear.
